Career
Ladders
Project

We promote equity-minded community college redesign.

We collaborate with colleges and their partners to discover, develop, and disseminate effective practices. Our policy work, research, and direct efforts with colleges lead to system change — and enable more students to attain certificates, degrees, transfers, and career advancement.

Agenda

- Welcome and Intros
- Our Guiding Community Principles
- Panel
- Group Discussion
- Wrap up and Closing

Today's Purpose

- Highlight rapid innovations and actions taken by a few California community colleges to support students virtually.
- Hear from practitioners who are working to address persistent challenges facing student supports.
- Take part in a conversation to:
 - Investigate promising practices that are being implemented at colleges;
 - Exchange approaches and concepts.

Panelists

Val Martinez Garcia

Jenna Gausman

Career Counselor/Faculty
Santa Monica College

Given the current environment, from your leadership or counseling role how have the students' needs changed?

How do you balance stepping up or “digging in” while at same time
addressing self-care to avoid burnout?

A photograph of a meeting taking place around a light blue table. Several people are seated at the table. In the foreground, a man with dark hair is looking towards the camera. Next to him, a man wearing a red baseball cap and a plaid shirt is looking down. To his right, another person wearing a pink and white baseball cap is partially visible. The table has water bottles, a white cup, and some papers on it. In the background, there are black chairs and a wall with electrical outlets. A large white text box is overlaid on the center of the image.

Looking ahead at challenges (declining enrollments of students of color, tech tools & access, social justice and equity reckoning) what are you focusing on and how are you integrating across campus?

Group Conversation
